

PRESS RELEASE

“Lectures of architecture” is a new series that inaugurate the activity of the editor “ILIOS”. The aim is to tell as much as possible about small but famous buildings. Low price and full English translation are the features of the series dedicated to a wide auditory of architects and non professional.

The properties are:

- easy language;
- full illustrations and models made just for this opera;
- low price;
- pocket size;
- full english text.

The book “Giuseppe Vaccaro, Kindergarden in Piacenza” by Enrico Ansaloni deals with a wanderful building as modern as unknown. It is made of 64 pages with Italian/English text and about 40 drawings mostly made by the author. The price 8 euros

Side note

The story of the kindergarden by Giuseppe Vaccaro - set in the neighborhood “Ina Casa” in Piacenza - begin in 1953 and go on until the opening in 1962. During this long period there are many versions and modifications joined by some common elements such as metrical dimensions and rithms of the front elevation. Through the narrow metodological path typical of this series the author sketches the method and the phases of a precious building recently refurbished.